

As you read these books, compare them by checking the genre under each one. You may choose more than one genre if you can explain why.

Bluebonnet Books I Have Read This Year

Objective: encourage wide-reading and understanding of genre

FICTION

NON-FICTION

All the Way Home	The Buffalo Nickel	Bull's Eye	Chocolate, Riches/Rainforest	Fair Weather	Flipped	Goin' Somewhere Special	How Tia Lola Came to Stay	Juan Verdades	The Kite Fighters	Leonardo's Horse	Mercedes & the Chocolate Pilot	PIECES	Shoelless Joe & Black Betsy	Smokejumpers	Toasting Marshmallows	Walking to the Bus-Rider...	When Marian Sang	Wishes, Kisses, and Pigs	Wingwalker
-------------------------	---------------------------	-------------------	-------------------------------------	---------------------	----------------	--------------------------------	----------------------------------	----------------------	--------------------------	-------------------------	---	---------------	--	---------------------	------------------------------	------------------------------------	-------------------------	---------------------------------	-------------------

Folk Tale —a story handed down from generation to generation to teach a lesson about life
Fairy Tale —Stories that use magic, with some characters that are all good and others that are evil.
Legend —a story handed down from generation to generation and is thought to be historical.
Poetry —language play that often contains figurative language and rhyme
Biography/Autobiography —the true story about someone's life experiences
Historical Fiction —facts from history are woven into a fictional story
Science Fiction —facts from science are woven into a fictional story
Modern Fiction —modern setting, problems, and characters interact in a fictional story
Mystery and Detective Stories —Clues lead to a solution or clarification of a problem/crime
Fantasy —fiction in which characters and/or setting is wildly imaginative, impossible, or fairy tale-like
Picture Book —a book that has many pictures that help tell the story or illustrate ideas.

